Boy Confesses He Murdered Little Ida Kramer

LOYD GEORGE STILL SEES WAR THREAT FOR ALL OF EUROPE

Premier Says Hostile Atmosphere Remains Despite Efforts Toward Peace.

CHEERED IN COMMONS.

Minister Defends His Course at Genoa and Reports on Progress.

LONDON, May 25 (Associated Press).—Lloyd George greeted Prime Minister Lloyd George when he entered the House of Commons at 3.45 o'clock this afternoon for a debate on the foreign policies of the Government.

The Genoa Conference formed the next for the debate, with the Premier ready to point to its achievements, such as the agreement for a truce and the economic results reached, and his opponents having for one thing the Russo-German treaty as the basis for criticisms of the happenings at Genoa.

Mr. Lloyd George in opening said he was dealing only with the business of the Genoa gathering and did not intend to discuss German relations or British relations with France, an opportunity for which discussion would be provided next week. After reviewing the objects of the conference, he said that in regard to the question whether the conference had succeeded he would simply state the facts fairly and let the members judge them fairly.

Cheers from the Ministerial benches followed this utterance.

Although peace had been established in Europe, it was quite clear, he continued, that the war atmosphere to a certain extent remained. As for Russia, it was hopeless for her, whatever her Government, to expect to extricate herself from the pit of misery without the assistance of the other thirty nations, he said.

There were three alternatives in dealing with the Russian situation, he pointed out. The first was force, which had been tried and failed, and no one had suggested that at Genoa. The second was to leave Russia to her fate.

"But how," he asked, "could we insure Europe against the risks this policy would involve? The Russo-German agreement shows the sort of peril I mean."

Germany, he said, could not re-equip Russia economically, not having the capital, but that was not the case with armaments, as there was every natural resource in one country and complete technical skill in the other.

In speaking of the possibility of the arming of Russia with German assistance, Mr. Lloyd George said, emphasizing each word:

"I hope the occasion may never arise making it necessary to go back and refer to the warning I am uttering."

"The British delegation," he said, realized that it was necessary for the peace of the world, whatever was thought of the Soviet Government, that some arrangement with Russia be made in order to enable her to help in swelling the volume of trade.

LITTLE IDA KRAMER, WHO WAS KILLED AFTER KIDNAPPING

IDA KRAMER.

ANDERSON LOSES MATCH IN BRITISH GOLF TOURNAMENT

Last American Eliminated in Amateur Title Play—Hunter Again Wins.

PRESTWICK, Scotland, May 25 (Associated Press).—John G. Anderson of Siwanoy, only surviving American in the British amateur golf championship tournament, was eliminated this morning by W. L. Hope of Turnberry, 2 up and 1 to play.

Anderson was unlucky with his putts, some of the long ones stopping just short of the hole. He played well but was unable to keep pace with Hope, whose golf was of a high order.

Anderson started promisingly. He was two yards from the pin in two at the first and won the hole, 3 to 2, but lost the next, where Hope sank a 6-yard putt for a 2. Hope outdrove Anderson, winning the third, sixth and seventh, and turned 3 up, having gone out in 37 to Anderson's 40.

Anderson recovered a hole at the tenth with a 3-yard putt and had a chance to win another at the fifteenth, but missed a yard putt, being disturbed by the spectators, which unsettled him on the green.

The American failed to win another hole, the sixteenth and seventeenth being halved, and he lost on the latter.

Willie Hunter, the title holder, won his match in this morning's play, defeating W. K. Whigham of Prestwick, 1 up.

Capt. E. F. Carter won from W. Guild of Murrayfield by the same score.

J. Wilson of Prestwick, who yesterday eliminated Edward Van Vleck of Garden City, was defeated in this morning's play by C. Bretherton of Handsworth, 1 up.

Roger Wethered defeated C. Gibb of Troon, 6 up.

IDA KRAMER DIED BECAUSE SHE CRIED, SLAYER CONFESSES

Youth Says He Threw Rock at Child After He Kidnapped Her.

PLANNED FOR RANSOM.

Camden Boy, Frightened, Weighted Body and Then Sank It in Creek.

CAMDEN, N. J., May 25.—George Elmer Munroe, nineteen, of Camden, confessed to-day to the Camden authorities that he killed Ida Kramer, seven, of Woodbury, and threw her body in a creek.

He was out of work and kidnapped the girl for ransom, he said, according to the authorities.

Munroe surrendered after a letter, in which he confessed that he hurled a rock at the girl's head when she cried, had been received by County Prosecutor Wolverton.

The girl's body was found several weeks ago in New Creek at Woodlynne.

The Prosecutor quoted the youth as saying he picked the girl at random from a group of school children at Woodbury when the idea of holding a child for ransom flitted through his head. He went to Camden by trolley and then by bus to Woodlynne, where he took the little Kramer girl into a vacant house.

Unable to quiet her crying he flung the rock, which hit the girl's head, and she fell to the floor, dead, Wolverton said.

Frightened, the boy weighted the body and threw it into the water, the Prosecutor described him as saying. Munroe said, according to the Prosecutor, that he saw Ida in front of her father's meat market, told her that her mother wanted her, and together they started toward Woodlynne.

"It was getting dark," the Prosecutor says Munroe said, "and the girl began to cry. I tried to calm her and she began to scream. I became frightened."

"We were in a lonely place. For some reason, I picked up a big rock and hit her on the head."

Doctors summoned to examine the youth reported him mentally sound. He decided to confess last month, but lacked the nerve to sign the letter, the Prosecutor said.

The Kramer girl disappeared from her home at Woodbury, N. J., on March 25, after her parents had given her permission to play with a neighbor's children. Her body was found a month later stuck in the mud of Little Newton Creek, near Camden.

An autopsy disclosed evidence of blows on the head.

Miss Esther Tannenbaum, twenty-eight, an aunt of the little girl, of Camden, was arrested as the abductor of the child, but was released. She was detained again when the body was found.

FOG DELAYS TRIP OF WORLD FLYERS

Awaiting More Favorable Conditions for Hop to Lyons.

PARIS, May 25 (Associated Press).—Because of a slight fog this forenoon there was delay in the departure of Major W. T. Blake, Capt. Norman MacMillan and Lieut. Col. L. E. Broomfield, the British aviators who reached Paris yesterday from England, on the first stage of their attempted 30,000-mile flight around the world. The aviators had their machine out on Bourget field ready for the departure, but at 1.30 o'clock this afternoon they were still awaiting more favorable conditions.

The next stop for the world-touring aviators will be Lyons.

UNION HAS $15,000 TO RUIN HIS BAKERY BUSINESS, HE SAYS

East Side Dealer Tells Lock-Wood Committee Shop Was Picketed for Nine Weeks.

PRICE OF BREAD CUT.

Declares Place Was Opened Next to His and Goods Sold at Less Than Cost.

Testimony that the Jewish Bakers' Union raised $15,000 to ruin the business of Max Schlesinger, No. 29 Avenue C, and opened a campaign to raise an additional $15,000 was spread on the records of the Lockwood Committee, my Samuel Untermyer in the course of an examination of Schlesinger and others to-day.

Mr. Untermyer's object in going into the methods of the Jewish Bakers' Union is to show that by their wage and shop rule exactions they are forcing bakers to charge exorbitant prices for bread from the poor of the east side.

Two officials of the union, Robert Jolson and Samuel Kreit who had been subpoenaed refused to appear before the committee. Some of the other witnesses were reluctant to answer questions and it was plain from their attitude and replies that they were afraid to give testimony against the union for fear of boycott or other retaliatory measures.

Schlesinger testified that he objected to the demands of the union more than two years ago but was compelled to employ one more man than he needed with the result that the superfluous help and sabotage on the part of his employees just about ate up his profits. He rebelled on June 17, 1921, and has since been conducting a non-union shop.

The union, he said, picketed his place, violently, for nine weeks until he obtained an injunction. Because of his reduced expenses, he said, he is able to sell bread for 6 cents a pound while union bakers are compelled to charge 8 or 9 cents a pound. Two weeks ago, he said, the union opened a shop at No. Avenue C, next door to his place, where they sell bread which costs them 5½ cents a pound at 5 cents a pound and rolls for 5 cents a dozen less than he can afford to sell them. The union men, he said, are running their store at a loss in order to put him out of business. They have cut his business from $1,500 a week to $300 a week, but he is still fighting.

Mr. Untermyer inserted in the record a translation of a handbill which Schlesinger has circulated in the vicinity of his shop. It reads in part:

"To my customers and patrons: A broad question. What does the union want of me? Last evening was one of the worst. Belfast has experienced a severe outbreak of bombing causing many casualties among Protestant workers returning to their homes. Gunmen lay in wait for Protestant workers returning from the shipyards through North Street and Stanhope Street, and opened fire in reprisal for the arrest of hundreds of Sinn Feiners Thursday. Police and military countered with machine gun fire. The gunmen dispersed, to reappear later with a supply of bombs. Two bombs, thrown at trams, missed, but wounded nineteen persons in the streets."

St. Silas's School, where Protestant children were celebrating Empire Day, was set afire. The manager's office of the Northern Spinning Mills, in the Falls Road district, was destroyed by bombs.

The round-up of Sinn Fein leaders and suspects continued to-day along the Tyrone, Fermanagh and Monaghan roads.

BURGLAR ROUTED WHEN WOMAN HITS HIM WITH A SHOE

Gets Hearty Crack on Head and Is Subdued After Struggle.

BUFFALO, May 25.—Armed with only a shoe, Mrs. Alfred L. Rock captured a burglar in her home here early to-day. Her prisoner gave the name of Herman Brown of Detroit. He told police his attempt to rob the Rock house was his tenth job of the night.

Mrs. Rock said she was aroused by a slight noise. Grasping a shoe, she entered the dining room. When a ray of light from a flashlight shot at her from nearby Mrs. Rock struck out with the shoe, landing on the burglar's head.

She then grappled with him and called her husband. They subdued the man.

PETERS KILLED BY WALTER S. WARD TO SHIELD ANOTHER MAN, IS REPORT

FIVE DIE IN RIOTS AT BELFAST; 27 ARE SHOT BY SNIPERS

Bombs, Incendiary Fires and Popping of Guns Are Incessant.

BELFAST, May 25.—A constable was shot dead to-day, making the overnight casualties in Belfast's secular warfare four dead and twenty-seven wounded. Incendiary fires were reported incessantly throughout the night. The Carnegie Library was badly damaged.

Two men were shot this morning in the Back Falls District. The condition of both is critical.

An armed band entered a pork shop in the Falls District this afternoon and shot and killed the butcher.

Last evening was one of the worst Belfast has experienced, a severe outbreak of bombing causing many casualties among Protestant workers returning to their homes.

Gunmen lay in wait for Protestant workers returning from the shipyards through North Street and Stanhope Street, and opened fire in reprisal for the arrest of hundreds of Sinn Feiners Thursday. ### Two Women Alleged to Figure in Blackmail Plot and Millionaire's Son Was Empowered to Deal With It—Slain Man Mere Go-Between.

District Attorney Weeks of Westchester County to-day started inquiry into a new explanation of the shooting of young Clarence Peters by Walter S. Ward. The latest story came from close associates of the Ward family and especially of Walter S. Ward.

This report was to the effect that Walter S. Ward was not himself the person whose reputation was to be ruined by the blackmailers if tribute were not paid. The threats of exposure were directed against a person to whom young Ward was under obligations and who put his interests in the young man's hands because of the official position of Ward and the fact that he had an established reputation for fearless, not to say reckless, dealing with dangerous situations.

PICKPOCKET CHASE IN ELEVATED TRAIN

Alleged Thief Seized by Brooklyn Patrolman, Who Was Passenger.

Passengers on a Fulton Street Elevated train at the Reid Avenue, Brooklyn, station to-day witnessed a pursuit through two cars of the train of an alleged pickpocket, and the man's arrest by Patrolman Moan of the Sheepshead Bay Station, who was on the train.

The prisoner said he was Mayer Goldstein, a neckwear salesman of No. 251 New Jersey Avenue, Brooklyn. The complainant was Louis Krulovetsky, a dry goods merchant, of No. 698 Stone Avenue, Brooklyn, who was in the last car of the train, when he said he felt some one reach into his pocket and draw out some money.

The merchant said he had $45 and that he seized the hand of the man identified as Goldstein.

BROTHER OF BOY FOUND SLAIN HELD Expected to Reveal How Child Met Death in Lake.

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., May 25.—Clarence Schein, sixteen years old, has been detained as a material witness in the investigation to determine how his brother, Henry, ten years old, met his death. Henry's body was found floating in the lake some distance in the rear of his home, Tuesday.

The radiogram from the steamship Majestic destroying this hope was shown to somebody in the band of blackmailers, the story ran, on Monday. This is understood to refer to the boy Peters. He insisted that it be shown to the other members of his band, the authorities are told, and made the arrangement to meet Ward early Tuesday morning, which ended with the shooting story.

PITCHER HUBBELL SERIOUSLY HURT

Philly Moundsman Hit by Batted Ball—Skull Probably Fractured.

PHILADELPHIA, May 25.—Wilbur Hubbell, pitcher, was seriously injured in the first inning of the first game between Philadelphia and Brooklyn to-day when he was struck on the head by a ball batted by Griffith of Brooklyn.

The Philadelphia twirler was rushed to a hospital, where it was said he had concussion of the brain and a probable fracture of the skull.

PRESIDENT HARDING GETS 22 STROKES IN CAPITAL GOLF MATCH

WASHINGTON, May 25.—President Harding has been given a handicap of 22 strokes in the newspaper men's golf tournament here to-morrow.

EMIL BEROLZHEIMER, PENCIL MAGNATE, DIES

TARRYTOWN, N. Y., May 25.—Emil Berolzheimer, President of the Eagle Pencil Company, died suddenly to-day in his home on the White Plains Road.
